ANDREW MELLON SEEKS $139,045 IN TAX REFUND

Answers Government's Tax Case Against Him With Demand

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon today answered the government's $139,045 demand for tax case against him with a demand for $139,045 refund.

The former Secretary of the Treasury, whom a Pittsburgh grand jury indicted for tax evasion, filed his case in a petition to the board of tax appeals, replying to a treasury deficiency assessment on Mellon's 1931 income.

Mellon, who served in the cabinets of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, disclosed he paid the internal revenue bureau $67,599 on his 1931 income. He listed charitable contributions that year of $3,821.178.

Mellon's appeal to the tax board was filed shortly after the Justice Department announced full payment by Thomas S. Lamont, youthful J. P. Morgan and Company partner, of government income tax claims and penalties. Lamont was named by Mellon as the executor of his estate.

Mellon's petition revived the May 7 action when a grand jury returned the government's indictment as "not a true bill." He further said he was not given the same treatment accorded other taxpayers by the commissioner of internal revenue, Guy T. Heistering.

Mellon's petition set forth 18 different assignments of error on the part of the treasury, including items of income, expenses, and the sale of stock of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, Western Public Service Corporation and others which the former secretary contended were sold in the ordinary course of business and in good faith.

Men Will Probably Return To Their Jobs Today

Minneapolis, May 25.—(AP)—Termination of Minneapolis' riotous eleven day truck drivers strike, which has cost one life and injured some 100 persons, was merely a matter of hours tonight after approval of an agreement by the union and the advisory committee of the employers.

Movement of trucks was expected to be resumed sometime tomorrow. Strikers, members of general drivers and helpers union, No. 574, announced they would return to strike headquarters tomorrow morning to be advised of action by the employers.

The advisory committee of the employers planned to poll its membership at the earliest possible moment though this was deemed by the group to be a mere formality.

Union members claimed they gained a victory because "our union has been recognized by the employers." In rejecting the regional labor board's recommendation for conclusion of the strike earlier in the week the strikers claimed this demand had not been met.

Although that ruling by the board contained provisions for written agreements between employer and employee, the peace plan accepted tonight does not embody that feature.

The accepted agreement provides for collective bargaining, establishes seniority rights, decrees there shall be no discrimination against employees who are union members, sets up a system for arbitration, and contains provisions for wages and hours of work.

Approval by the union was voted overwhelmingly, only a small number of hands being raised against ratification of the strikers committee recommendation.

OPPONENTS OF SILVER BILL TO BE HEARD

Democratic Leaders Plan To Speed Passage

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Opponents to the new silver monetary proposal will be given an opportunity to air their views tomorrow before the ways and means committee but Democratic leaders plan to speed the bill to house action next week.

After a sharp tilt between Republicans and Democrats over allowing Professor E. W. Kemmerer of Princeton University to appear, Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) abandoned plans to force a vote on the bill today.

Kemmerer and Representative Dies (D-Texas), who introduced the measure, will appear tomorrow. Doughton said, however, he planned to call for a vote to report the bill after their testimony.

The controversy over allowing opponents to testify came after Secretary Morgenthau and his general counsel, Herman Oliphant, testified that the administration wanted a fifty per cent tax levied upon profits made by speculators.

Representative Treadway (R-Mass.) proposed that Kemmerer be allowed to testify but Doughton said he did not want the committee to become a "heating society." After the luncheon recess, however, an agreement was reached to hear the professor.

Although the basic principles of the bill have met the general approval of the committee, several members indicated they would propose amendments to limit the discretionary authority granted the president over the monetary system.

South Holland, Ill., May 25.—(AP)—Six bandits who stormed the quiet little suburban town of South Holland today found themselves facing a bank guard who had waited four months to avenge his son's death.

They took a bloody defeat. Attacked before they could fire a shot, they left John Cozzi, 21, dead, Ben Tocco, 19, died a few hours later. By noon a third bandit, casually was in custody. His mates dumped Isadore Pincus, 19, in front of a South Side Chicago hospital, weak from loss of blood.

The six bandits, armed with all the paraphernalia of modern crime, sallied into the little South Holland Trust and Savings Bank to find themselves trapped. They were under the gun of Jacob P. De Young, who had been waiting to even up the death of Peter De Young, his only son, at the hands of the same band in February.

De Young, the bank guard and an expert marksman, routed the bandits with five shots from a big game rifle, a repeater. Those who could flee ran out into the hot fire of three or four vigilantes, recruited on five minutes' notice.

Four escaped, leaving one dead and one dying. Three hours later a speeding car slowed before the Jefferson Park hospital and dumped out Pincus. South Holland was waiting for the bandits when they arrived, shortly before 9 o'clock, time for the bank to open. Police Chief Leonard H. Lagastee sped a small, fast sedan cruising past the bank.

"I think it's a stickup," he told Charles E. Waterman, president of the bank. De Young mounted his post—a steel shield on the balcony of the floor below. He picked up his gun, of hunting rifle caliber but equipped with a magazine.

Lagastee hurried across the street of the quiet little town, a settlement of Dutch truck farmers, and warned Neal Van Kanegon, garage owner. Van Kanegon got out an elephant gun. Lagastee loosened two pistols in his hands.

The bandits' car stopped, one man took up a station at the bank door. Another waited in the car, four went in. All were masked with handkerchiefs. The four who went in went in yelling—to terrorize the bank employees.

DEBATE TO BE LIMITED ON TARIFF BILL

Republicans Reach An Agreement With Democrats

By D. Harold Oliver
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Republicans and Democrats got together late today and agreed to limit debate on the tariff bill, the moving the threat of a prolonged one-man filibuster and assuring a final vote, in the opinion of democratic leaders, by next Thursday at the latest.

After six more republican opposition speeches today, interrupted now and then by prolonged comment from Senator Long (D-La.), Senator Harrison (D-Miss.), in charge of the measure, proposed and it was unanimously agreed that debate should be restricted beginning at noon Wednesday.

Even Long agreed to the proposition, but not until he had obtained a concession to permit more liberal discussion of an amendment to exempt farm commodities from operation of the proposed trade reciprocity and tariff-reduction agreements with foreign powers. Long previously had been charged with filibustering against the tariff bill but had denied the allegation.

Under the debate-limiting agreement, no Senator could speak more than once for longer than 15 minutes on each amendment and 20 minutes on the bill, except on the farm amendment. Speeches on that provision would be limited to one hour.

Senators Johnson (R-Calif.) and Overton (D-Ar.) have amendments pending to exempt farm products from tariff reductions and the opposition is basing its hope for changes on these proposed modifications.

Senator Harrison, however, claims the bill will be passed without material change. He said tonight a final vote may be reached before the debate-limiting takes effect.

A brief session will be held tomorrow to permit Senator Hastings (R-Del.) to conclude a long opposition speech he began late today.

Senator Hatfield (R-W.Va.) today urged action on his resolution which calls upon the state department for a copy of the trade treaty with Columbia, negotiated last December. Opposing action, Harrison said there was no cause for alarm on the part of any American industry as to its contents.

Leaders in Science, Industry Picture World as They Expect It to be 100 Years From Now

1934 CENTURY OF PROGRESS OPENS TODAY

Chicago, May 25.—(AP)—Five hundred of the nation's leaders in science and industry tonight pushed aside the curtains of the future and pictured the world as they expect it to be 100 years from now. Higher standards of living were predicted rather than a dividing of what we have now.

They saw:
Elimination of infectious disease.
A lengthening of the average life span to three score and ten.
Airmen powered from stations on the ground.
Electric motors run by sunlight.
Shums eliminated by low cost prefabricated houses.
Multi-motored air liners flying the oceans on frequent schedules.

These and scores of other scientific marvels were predicted, not as Jules Verne fantasies but as probabilities by creative specialists who met at the hall of progress in the General Motors building at A Century of Progress at the invitation of Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation.

Banishing unanimously the philosophy that the world is finished and that progress is a thing of the past, they gave their answers to Sloan's question: "what will be the future developments in your field?"

Sloan said he wanted to know whether there was any foundation for the belief of pessimists that progress has ceased and that life must be maintained by dividing up available jobs and accepting a lower standard of living. He asserted he believed that the amount of available work can be expanded continually.

Most of the answers were delivered in person; others were read from manuscript.
Dr. C. H. Mayo and Dr. W. J. Mayo of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., Dr. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins University, Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, predicted the normal life span soon will be 70 years, instead of the present 60, itself an increase from the 35 years of 1837.

The Doctors Mayo pointed out that remarkable advances have been made not only in the diagnosis of cancer, but in its cure, and that the years would bring further progress.

Dr. Fishbein asserted that "with the discovery of vitamins and the newer knowledge of nutrition, even better bodies will be available in a few generations." He predicted that the knowledge now available for controlling the birth of the unfit and degenerate will be applied for the advancement of all mankind.

82 Miles Of Exhibits Have Been Revamped And Enlarged

By William J. Conway
Associated Press Staff Writer
Chicago, May 25.—(AP)—The World's Fair, huge fount of free style education and elaborate amusement in Chicago's front yard, will open its 1934 season tomorrow.

Parades, speeches and ceremony conducted to the fanfare of bands will signalize the first clicks of the turnstiles through which some 22,000,000 visitors from all sectors of the earth passed last year.

The 82 miles of exhibits had been revamped, enlarged, shifted and redecorated in an endeavor to make a Century of Progress Exposition more of a layman's university and less of a boisterous carnival. Twelve thousand artisans labored up to the zero hour in transforming the old and new structures into a multi-colored quilt of beauty.

Modified artistic schemes, and a system of suffused lighting have been completed. A dozen new villages, offering street scenes from modern and medieval Europe and Asia, have sprung up. Artificial snow and icicles have been lavished upon the mountains, huts and ice pond of a miniature black forest.

A realistic Hawaiian volcano belches flame. A menagerie and a zoo have been packed with predatory animals. Shells have been fashioned for the Chicago and Detroit symphony orchestras. A theater has been installed in the waters of the lagoon and another built for graphic illustration of scientific marvels. A futuristic, metal-plated dairy and other features have been established for the inspection of the Alice and Ales who may venture to this lake front wonderland.

In all, some $2,000,000 has been expended by the management's estimate, on new exhibits while renovations have been made on the standbys of 1933.

A parade will start down Michigan avenue at 1 p. m. tomorrow, four hours after the gates have swung open for the first patron. Promised fair weather, 10,000 military, naval and civic groups are expected to troop down the boulevard behind the cavalcade of cars bearing officials of the state, city and fair.

When the procession reaches the fair grounds, Governor Henry Horner of Illinois, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago and President Rufus Dawes of the exposition will deliver addresses.

At 9 p. m. three theaters at the fair will show talking pictures of the chief executive and first lady of the land. Mr. Roosevelt will make a few cinematic remarks and then will be seen pressing a button. By synchronization, the kaleidoscopic lights of the fair will be lit at the same moment. Mrs. Roosevelt will throw a switch on the screen and the largest fountain in the world will begin to spout forth 68,000 gallons of water a minute under the rays of enormous klieg lights shining up from the lagoon.

Los Angeles, May 25.—(AP)—In an overtime court session here late today a marriage annulment was granted to Merry Fahmy Pickering Van Eisner, Chicago patent medicine heiress who testified she awoke in a Chicago hospital last November to learn she had become the bride of Frank Van Eisner, advertising man.

The heiress said she drank a brandy and half a whiskey highball the preceding evening in Chicago with Van Eisner, whom she had not seen for five years, and then "came to" in a Chicago hospital the morning of November 11 to learn she had married the advertising man at Aurora, Ill., in the interim.

"It appears there was a greater degree of intoxication than was admitted by Mr. Van Eisner or any of his witnesses," said Superior Judge Leon Yankwich in granting the annulment.

URGENT PASSAGE OF WAGNER BILL

Spread Of Industrial Strife Demands Action

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—The rising tide of industrial strife brought renewed pressure from the administration today for enactment of the Wagner labor board bill.

Amid fresh reports of violence in the strike areas of the valley states, the Senate labor committee pushed the bill toward the Senate floor.

At the White House it was disclosed that President Roosevelt was watching the Toledo strike with a view to extending federal aid to effect a settlement; that the labor situation had been discussed at the cabinet meeting and that the president felt the Wagner bill would be helpful in clarifying administrative procedure in the labor disputes.

In regards, the full statement read, "to the reply of the National Lock company of Rockford attributing to the National Labor Board's general counsel responsibility for the Board's action in regards to the case of the National Lock company."

Indianapolis, May 24.—(AP)—A speeding race car hurtled from the course of the Indianapolis motor speedway today and carried to death its pilot, Pete Kreis, Knoxville, Tenn., sportsman, and his mechanic, Bob Hahn of Chico, Calif.

It was the first fatal accident of this year's preliminaries to the annual Memorial day classic but it brought to a total of twenty-five the deaths resulting from a quarter century of racing at the local track.

The accident occurred while Kreis was tuning up his car preparatory to a resumption of the time trials.

Kreis had taken several turns of the two and one-half mile brick course at an estimated speed of ninety miles an hour. Finally he opened the throttle wider. He roared through the south-west turn and then from some cause unknown his car went out of control.

Not All Tough Men Are Arranged Against Law

"We just shot the devil out of them, that's all!"

That was the terse, picturesque picture Frank Hamer, former Texas ranger, gave of the shooting of Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker, the Southwest's unholy pair.

Hamer didn't say much more about the double killing, didn't say anything, in fact, until pressed for details. Then he elaborated a little.

"I hated to bust a cap on a woman, especially when she was sitting down. However, if it wouldn't have been her, it would have been us."

Shot the devil out of them—Hated to bust a cap on a woman!

Do these expressions sound genteel, as if they came from a gentleman schooled in etiquette of the drawing room? Or do they smack of something rough and tough? From that Hamer is a throwback of the old western school of gun fighters who didn't have any use for triggers on their guns, because they fanned them, and who succeeded in holding their own with desperadoes because they were equal in skill, courage and all-round fighting qualities.

Hamer, we are certain, was not affecting dramatics when he described the deaths of the outlaws. He was just talking natural, explaining the affair in his own language. And his language is descriptive of a man used to dangers, colorfully spoken after a crimson episode.

Many stories have been written of the bravery of the Texas rangers. It is traditional that a few rangers from the Lone Star state are a match for several times their number. The fearlessness of this law enforcement agency is well brought out in a yarn that has been related for some years.

It seems that there was trouble in a small Texas town, that threatened to get out of the hands of the local officials. The trouble grew into proportions of a riot. The situation became so alarming that the mayor telegraphed the governor for troops.

The mayor was informed that reinforcements would be dispatched on a noon train. He went to the station to see the soldiers come in.

One long, lean, brown-faced fellow swung off the train. That was all. No soldiers had been sent. But the lone arrival wore the equipment of a Texas ranger.

"Are you the only one they sent?" the mayor asked excitedly, showing astonishment.

"Hell, there's only one riot here, isn't there?" the ranger inquired.

That little story is a tribute to the resourcefulness of the southwestern peace officers. It is exaggerated, but reflects the confidence of the rangers in their aim and their weapons.

Hamer, one of the central figures in the roadside execution of Barrow and the Parker woman, spent more than 20 years with the rangers. His actions and even his speech are characteristic of the law's rugged representatives of that region.

We do not doubt that this Hamer and his companions on that last chase after Barrow are tough customers. We do not mean tough as measured in character, but in courage, skill and ability to take care of themselves they are undoubtedly what we sometimes term hard. They have to be rugged, resourceful, determined, to go out after a man of Barrow's ilk and return with their own hides.

The last chapter in the Barrow-Parker affair is enlightening to many who had almost come to believe that all of the tough ones are arrayed against the law. Hamer and his companions, like many other brave officers who can match toughness with those outside of the law. It is done frequently, not only in the southwest but in every section of the country.

Point of View
The Italian newspaper "Il Popolo d'Italia," which is owned by Mussolini himself, foresees the decline and fall of the United States. Why? Because the birth rate is falling.

This, says the paper, shows a "paralysis of energy" and will result before long in national decadence.

"Within several generations," it adds, "the births and deaths will be equal, and then the crumbling of America's skyscrapers will begin."

Before getting too gloomy about this, it is well to remember that Italians about the beauties of a high birth rate, and when one recalls that Italy is already overpopulated, and that further population pressure can only add to the disastrous tensions of European politics, one suspects that America's falling birth rate will prove less dangerous than Italy's rising one.

California Justice Swift
From the Fort Worth Star-Telegram: Twenty-four hours between capture and sentence of three kidnapers is California's record contribution to the crusade against organized crime. That state has made some demonstrations in that department of social relations from the otherwise healthful climate which should make criminal detour that guarantees an annual bumper tourist crop. The episode of San Jose is still fresh in the public memory. They can go from one extreme to the other without difficulty.

That system is the only hope of restoring a semblance of safety into American living conditions. Once a practice is evolved which will make short shrift of captured criminals of all sorts and conditions we shall be seeing a reduction in criminality.

Such criminals as those connected with the two latest kidnaping cases should not expect consideration from temples of justice. The processes of the law should be swift and inimitable.

They should be taken out of circulation in the fewest possible hours and the public should know with certainty that they will be served in its entirety. When human beings bring themselves to a state of mind so to treat innocent victims as those two kidnaping groups served a little girl and a bound, blinded and gagged man, there can be no criticism made against the exercise of the limit of punishment with the minimum of wasted time. The only reason for the "law's delay" is that of providing a defense built on technicalities.

The prosecution has an equal right to hasten proceedings in the name of law and order.

Texas made an excellent start in that direction in a recent case. Its good intentions tripped up on a jury which disagreed on death and life imprisonment. When a second trial was ordered the defendant demanded that a venire of 400 potential jurors be served with summons, individually.

That single act required more time than was taken in the entire California trial and sentence. When it had been decided that a plea of guilty will offer life imprisonment in preference to a death penalty there will be more accidents closed with such rapidity. The three defendants might have demanded a severance. They probably would have the crime occurred in Texas.

The public should applaud California roundly. They have ways of treating atrocious crime perpetrators in that long, slim state.

BARBS
With a million-dollar investment, Henry L. Derry is said to have gained control of a billion-dollar company. And what did he have to invest to get control of his million?

"Uncle Sam hasn't mailed out his bills yet for payments on the war debts. Probably thinking how to word his apology first."

Poisoned whisky was discovered mailed to persons in California. No one died, since people are more cautious these days than they were before repeal.

"Killjoys" and grumblers in Germany should be shot, cries an editor there. That includes Vox Populi, Pax Vobiscum, and others who write embarrassing letters to editors.

The New Deal in Washington

Labor to Battle for More Concessions Under NRA . . . Once Cabin Boy, Now Soper Is Skipper of Mayflower . . . Relief in Sight For Child Labor in Beet Fields.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington, May 25.—Under pressure from a rank and file which seems to have soured on the recovery program, for a time at least, conservative labor leaders are secretly planning to show more fight.

You may expect them, through the Labor Advisory Board of NRA, to bathe vigorously for labor representation on code authorities and for shorter working hours under codes which will put more people at work.

An effort to put the cotton garment industry on a 35-hour week instead of the present 40-hour basis is likely to be one of the first show-downs.

Labor firebrands within NRA will reflect the present wave of labor disturbance over the country which threatens to increase during summer and fall.

Widespread dissatisfaction with NRA has grown rapidly, even among the less militant union officials, and it's all heading up toward General Johnson.

One of the more prominent and successful national union chiefs has just received the report of a man he sent around the country to survey the situation. The report can be summarized as follows:

Everywhere there's profound disappointment over NRA administration as it affects labor. NRA is mentioned with a bitter sneer.

Workers are not damming Roosevelt, though he receives less applause from movie audiences in which they predominate. Labor's ire is directed at Johnson, who is blamed for the three chief sources of dissatisfaction:

1. "Weaseling" on the president's promise in March of wage increases and shorter hours.

2. The automobile strike settlement, of which many manufacturers have taken advantage to form company unions. Some manufacturers seek reopening of National Labor Board cases to permit company union representation in collective bargaining, saying the auto settlement changed everything.

3. Lack of labor representation in code administration and domination of regional labor boards and their agents by chambers of commerce and other employer groups.

(Of course labor would never consent to giving up NRA.)

Cabin Boy to Skipper
Mel Soper, once a cabin boy on the presidential yacht Mayflower, is going to be the ship's skipper. He is a golf professional but served on the ship from Theodore Roosevelt's administration through to Harding's time.

Now he is going to leave the vessel and anchor her in the Potomac as an exclusive dining night club. The Mayflower was decommissioned in 1929, burned and sank two years later, and has since been raised and repaired. Her owners can't find a buyer.

Relief for Child Labor
For years this government has been receiving official reports of deplorable child labor conditions in the sugar beet fields. At last, according to confidential assurances from Secretary Wallace, something is going to be done about it.

Contracts are made with whole families, including children from six years up, which in many cases have been receiving from $100 to $200 for about half a year's work and then have promptly gone on relief.

The Costigan sugar act, despite successful efforts by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan to weaken the labor element, enables the secretary of agriculture "to limit or regulate" child labor and fix minimum wages.

Guarantee of pre-war parity and benefit payments for beet growers will permit payment of higher contract rates and Wallace is sure to see to it that more adults and fewer young children are employed in the industry.

The significance is that this will be the first time government has regulated agricultural child labor. But the farmer's customary protest, that he wants the right to use his own children on the farm probably won't be heard.

The best fields have had commercialized, dawn-to-dark imported labor, with few native American children. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

MOTHERS GUESTS AT KINDERGARTEN TEA

Thursday afternoon Miss Dorothy Cannon, director of the Kindergarten department of MacMurray college, entertained at delightful tea for the mothers and a few friends. Tea was served between the hours of three and five in the social room of the college. Miss Cannon was assisted by Mrs. Robert Randall, who presided at the lovely tea table, and the student assistants Hazel Thompson and Florence Messick. During the afternoon the work of the children was on display and was arranged artistically in the kindergarten classroom.

The visitors first noticed the work of the little pupils which was undirected; this included, heads for hobby horses, teddy bears and gold fish drawings. Parquetry work was also attractive as well as the gay parol designs painted by the children. The stop and go signs and airships showed creative talent and the sand-table was a miniature village with houses, garages and trees. A large exhibit was a house made by Edmund Perry and Frank Wandell which was complete with tables, chairs, rugs and wall paper.

This occasion was one of unusual pleasure and interest for all of the guests.

J. H. S. SENIORS
DISTRIBUTE 1934 CRIMSON J'S HERE

The 1934 "Crimson J" was distributed Friday morning at the high school. This is the 24th edition of the volume issued each year by the senior class.

It is a most attractive book bound in green flexible leather, and inscribed with a crimson "J." The book is modern and unique, using as its theme the skyscraper. Each department is designed to resemble some activity in the construction or maintenance of a giant modern building. The division pages bear designs of a steel framework with pictures of the activities represented under the title.

The book is dedicated by the class to the parents, "Who have made sacrifices that we might enjoy four happy years in high school." There is also a page of dedication to the six class advisers: Miss Louise Struck class dean; Miss Mabel Ruyie, Miss Elsie Evans, Miss Irene Groves, Miss Alice Larimore and John May.

Miss Helen Magill, a professional artist, did the art work of the pages, and there are many sketches and snapshots. Individual pictures of members of the Junior class are provided, and the other classes are arranged in home room groups.

The book opens with a description and photographs of faculty members, who are likened to the architects of the skyscraper. In the succeeding pages, the Freshmen dig the foundation, the Sophomores manufacture and transport the building materials framework, and the Seniors put on to the job, the Juniors build the finishing touches.

In the Organization Division the offices in the building are described as the high school groups. Then there is the Athletic club, where the "tired" business man, alias student, turns aside from his toil for bodily relaxation. There are also the activities, in which the students engage for recreation and wholesome pleasure.

Each year the Crimson J staff conducts a contest to determine the most popular boy and the most popular girl, as announced when the book is distributed. This year Bob Leach and Patricia O'Sullivan won the respective honors. The faculty also selected the most representative boy and girl in the senior class, and the honors go to William Swaby and Mary Frye.

Members of the 1934 Crimson J staff include:

Editor-in-chief—Patricia O'Sullivan. Associate editor—Florence McLain. Organization editor—Philip Greeley. Advertising manager—Robert Leach.

Memorial Day Talk by Father Lawler
"Until the world has a respect for justice, there will be war and rumors of war," declared Father Frank Lawler, state chaplain of the American Legion, in a Memorial day address to the members of the Jacksonville Rotary club Friday.

"Memorial day is not to glorify war," the speaker declared, "but it is a day to honor those who died on the field of battle, fighting for their country. Their loss was our gain and we shall not forget them."

Father Lawler said that if the question "Would you favor America participating in another war?" was asked 50,000,000 Americans, their unanimous reply would be "No." But if the question "Do you favor the United States joining the League of Nations?" 112,000,000 would answer "No," while 8,000,000 would favor joining the League of Nations and the World Court.

"This minority," the speaker said, "is spending millions annually for their cause."

Father Lawler declared that America's

SIGMA PHI EPSILON SPRING HOP FRIDAY

A gala event of the Illinois College pre-commencement season was the Sigma Phi Epsilon "spring formal" which was held last evening at the Jacksonville Country club.

Upon arriving the guests entered the dance hall, brilliant with decorations. A large silver star, eight feet in diameter, at the end of the hall, with the Greek letters of the society in blue upon it, shed its light upon the dancers. A clever arrangement of lighting effects were the Greek letters appearing in blue emblazoned upon silver, the radiating lights outlined the silver star in blue as a beautiful background. Many smaller stars of silver appeared to be dropping from the blue and silver streamers, appearing from the chandeliers, producing an enchanting scene. This is the first time this theme has been used by a campus society.

The souvenir programs were in blue and silver circles adorned with the silver star motif with the Greek letters in blue. A delightful program of twelve dances was arranged and an added pleasure was the music by Byron Dunbar and his orchestra.

The chaperones for this festive occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mc-

Chicago, May 25.—(AP)—The White Sox concentrated their hitting in one fruitful inning today and scored six runs to defeat the league-leading New York Yankees, 7 to 5. The Sox took the series, 3-1. It was the third straight series the Yanks have lost in the west.

A home run by Manager Jimmy Dykes, his fifth of the season and his fourth in the last eight games, clin-axed the third inning spree at the expense of the veteran, George Uhle, who was making his second start for the Yanks. Luke Appling was on base when Dykes made his swat. In 191 games last year Dykes hit only one homer.

George Earnshaw went the route for the Sox, his second complete game of the season.

Babe Ruth, who wrenched his back slightly yesterday, remained out for a rest.

The victory drew the eighth-place White Sox to within six games of the Yankees. A ladies' day crowd of 15,000 saw the game.

INDIANS WALLOP RED SOX 18 TO 3

Cleveland, May 25.—(AP)—The Indians going their bats against Boston picking for 24 hits that were good for 43 bases today and scalped the Boston Red Sox, 18 to 3. The victory gave Cleveland an even break in the series, reduced to two games, and left them only a single game behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

Every Indian except Johnny Burns hit safely and Joe Vosmik, Hal Trosky and Earl Averill clouded homers. Vosmik's, his fifth of the season, passed over the 415-foot marker on the center field wall and landed halfway up into the bleachers. Cleveland led the game by smacking Diety Rhodes for five runs in the first, hit Herb Pennock freely and after Henry Johnson was touched for seven runs in the fifth he was allowed to finish the game.

HOG PRICES 5 CENTS HIGHER

Chicago, May 25.—(P)—Aggressive buying sent hogs up about five cents today as the market reversed itself. There was a better demand for what was offered although receipts, for the first time this week, were less than expected and less than the run of a week ago.

A late top of $3.70 was ten cents better than yesterday's peak but the bulk of good mediumweight swine sold at $3.55 to $3.65. The run totaled 20,000 head of which 9,000 were received direct by the large packers.

Only light cattle were available in today's short run of 2,000 head. Most killing classes were fairly active and strong, between grade steers and yearlings averaging around 25 cents above Thursday's low. The best price paid for mediumweights was $6.00. But the bulk scaled down to $7.25 and lower. Offerings fell 5,000 head below yesterday's run but were about normal for the day.

Sheep were generally steady in spite of a heavy run of 9,000. This was 2,000 more than had been expected but came up to the day's average. The major portion were killed direct to slaughter plants, however.

GRAIN PRICES HIT NEW HIGH LEVELS

By John P. Bourhan
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago, May 25.—(P)—Soaring 31 cents a bushel today, wheat reached topmost prices since Feb. 5, holding also corn and oats to the highest point witnessed in months.

Broadened speculative demand became manifest for wheat in particular, largely owing to intensified drought damage conditions over the Canadian and American spring crop belt, and because of sharply reduced estimates of European crops. Predictions of renewed excessive heat in drought territory northwest attracted special attention, with no immediate prospect of moisture relief.

Some trade estimates current suggested that France, Germany, Italy, Great Britain, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary and Czechoslovakia would produce 200,000,000 bushels less wheat this season than last year.

Wheat closed strong at virtually the day's maximum prices, 24-21 above yesterday's finish, corn 1-13 up, oats 11-15 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 1 cent.

Biggest gains in wheat values with most activity of trading, came in the final half hour of business here. For a while, the brisk upward swing of the markets was led by Winnipeg, but later Minneapolis went to the front, and scored 44 cents gain. Exporters at Winnipeg were reported as good buyers, and there were messages saying that after 900 miles drive in southwestern Manitoba and southern Saskatchewan a Winnipeg grain man declared the present outlook in that part of the prairie provinces was for a near crop failure.

Prospects for adverse crop prospects both sides of the Atlantic were United States department of agriculture advices indicating 100,000,000 bushels probable reduction of the 1934 wheat output of the Danubian basin. Drought damage in the Danube region was reported as especially severe of late, and the curtailment indicated would imply one of the smallest crops ever raised along the Danube, leaving little or nothing for export. Another bullish factor was word that during the time for preparation and seeding of wheat in Argentina this season, there had been unusual lack of moisture, the supply totaling less than a third of normal.

Corn and oats followed the action of wheat, although the government-sponsored buying so conspicuous a feature of the corn market yesterday was not in evidence today.

Provisions rallied at the last, responsive to strength of grains.

Make-up Art School Draws Many Women

Max Factor Expert Heads Study of Principles of Make-up

Highlights and shadows of the face are undergoing intensive study this week by the women of Jacksonville with a view to applying principles of art to their make-up.

They are finding out that the lipstick is as much as the paint brush in an artist's hands; that rouge can change the facial contour; that powder is more than something to be fluffed on.

MISS CALLISTA O'NEILL

Through special arrangement with Max Factor, Hollywood's make-up genius, Miss Callista O'Neill is at the Emporium's "Corner of Youth" this week to demonstrate this latest application of the oldest of all arts!

Do you know how to achieve that fascinatingly exotic look? How to give a thin face the pleasing fullness of youth? Or how to make a round face appear more oval? It's the art of color! As the artist must know the delicate blending and softening of shades, so must the modern woman, if she wants her make-up to be subtly flattering. And Miss O'Neill is here to teach her.

NAB 3 YOUTHS AFTER ATTEMPT TO ENTER STORE

Police Hold Trio After Alleged Attempted Burglary Takes Place

Three youths are being held at the Jacksonville police station this (Saturday) morning following what police say was an attempt to burglarize the Brucke Magazine Store in the Bats Building on East State street.

The youths being held gave their names as Robert Nunn, John Wolke of this city, and Philip Greeley of Glasgow.

Joe Brucke, proprietor of the store, was sleeping in his establishment last night. About 1 o'clock he told police he heard someone trying to break into the rear door. Brucke slipped out the front door to the Pacific hotel and notified the police.

Captain Everett Mann and Patrolman Howard Stout and Robert Leggett made a quick response to the call. While two of the officers entered the alley from East State street the other officer came in from Morgan street.

The officers claim that when they started into the alley the youths broke and ran. The officers fired several shots into the air and gave chase. Nunn and Wolke were captured near the MacMurray College on East Morgan street after a long chase. The third youth escaped through a yard but was later arrested at his boarding house.

After the two youths had been placed in cells at the city prison the officers returned to the Brucke store and claim they found a small crowbar which had been used in the attempt to enter the store.

Several pieces of wood had been torn from the door but entrance was not gained.

LOCAL AUXILIARY UNIT TO SELL POPPIES TODAY

"Poppy Day" To Be Observed Throughout United States Today

Today will be "Poppy Day" throughout the United States. Millions of Americans will wear little red poppies in tribute to the men who gave their lives on the poppy-studded battle fields of France and Belgium during the World War. An army of approximately 16,000 women will distribute the memorial flowers on the streets of practically every city and town in the country.

Arrangements for observance of "Poppy Day" here have been completed by the women of the local American Legion Auxiliary Unit under the leadership of Mrs. Wilbur Rogers, poppy chairman. Auxiliary women will distribute poppies on the street throughout the day, and will receive contributions for the welfare of disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead.

The poppies to be offered by the Auxiliary today are paper replicas of the wild poppies of France which grew on the battle fields and war cemeteries. They have been made by disabled veterans working in 58 government hospitals and Auxiliary workrooms in 40 different states.

The bulk of the money contributed for the poppies will be retained in the city to be used for the relief of needy veterans and their families during the coming year. Part will go to support state and national activities of the American Legion and Auxiliary for the disabled and dependents. The poppy sale is the principal source of support for the continuous welfare and rehabilitation program carried out by the Auxiliary, and the Auxiliary workers are hoping that more people than ever before will "honor the dead and serve the living" by wearing a poppy today.

FORMER GREENE COUNTY MAN IS SLAIN, CLAIM

Fair Confess Plot To Drown John T. Bigley in The Mississippi

Bowling Green, Mo., May 25.—(P)—Pike county authorities said tonight Charles H. Brown held in connection with the drowning of John T. Bigley, near Louisiana May 11, had confessed pushing Bigley out of a boat into the Mississippi river.

The confession, according to Sheriff Lillie M. Smith, was made to Prosecuting Attorney Davis Benning at Louisiana. Sheriff Smith also said Bigley's widow, Mrs. Lydia Bigley, 49, made a written confession that she plotted with Brown to do away with her husband.

Both Brown and Mrs. Bigley are held here, and Sheriff Smith said Benning expected to file formal charges tomorrow. Benning said he would file a first degree murder charge against Brown.

The purported confessions followed investigation by an insurance company which held a $2,000 policy on Bigley. Company officials told authorities that Brown had paid the premiums on the policy.

Mrs. Bigley, authorities said, admitted her husband's insurance and marry. The woman is the mother of two sons and Brown planned to collect children.

Louisiana, Mo., May 25.—(P)—Prosecuting Attorney Davis Benning said today he expects to file a murder charge against Charles H. Brown, 47, a fisherman, in connection with the death of John T. Bigley, 48, who was drowned in the Mississippi river near here the night of May 11.

Brown testified at a coroner's inquest that Bigley, who came here about a month ago from Roodhouse, Ill., fell out of a boat while the two men were taking up a trout line.

An insurance company which held a $2,000 policy on Bigley made the investigation which resulted in Brown's arrest. Brown had lived with the Bigley family.
